

S4C Champions' Night ends with fairytale finish

You couldn't have written the script at the S4C Champions Night on Monday, 7 September at Tir Prince, Towyn when Irish driver Alan Richardson raced home the winner on Earned Income. It was a fairytale finish for the Irish driver.

There was no doubt as he drove home first on Earned Income in front of the live Rasus cameras to win The 6th Crock of Gold and the £3,500 first prize, and the title of the country's champion pacer.

Earned Income had already won the ninth heat of the Crock of Gold and the Welsh Classic Final at Tregaron.

The Cup was presented to the delighted driver by Siân Eirian of S4C's Editorial Team.

S4C presenter Dai Jones said: "It was an unforgettable evening of racing from Tir Prince. It was marvellous to see Alan Richardson casting away the demons of two years ago. It was a crown on a magnificent season of harness racing on Rasus from tracks across Wales."
